1. This office action, in response to the remarks filed 4/3/2006, is a final office action.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground of rejection is made in view of Brewer et al (US 6,262,777).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 28-61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Brewer et al (US 6,262,777).

Regarding claims 28 and 46-61, Brewer discloses a method and apparatus for synchronizing edited audiovisual files. Figure 2 discloses a first audio decoding means (120) and a parallel second video decoding means (120). A detecting means matches the phases of the decoded signals. Audio segments are decoded and re-encoded to generate glue frames. The editing engine stitches together the processed audio and video segments into a single file. The newly created file substantially synchronizes the audio component with the video component (column 4, lines 6-21). Figure 2 discloses encoding means 114 (column 10, lines 20-34). Means for controlling the re-encoding means is provided for aligning the audio and video signals properly (column 7, line 63 to column 8, line 8 and column 8, lines 42-58).

Regarding claims 29 and 30, Brewer discloses the controlling means re-encodes the signals according to the time positioning of the audio and video frames in figure 1B (column 7, lines 39-62).

Regarding claims 31 and 32, Brewer discloses the phases are matched to allow synchronization (column 7, line 63 to column 8, line 8).

Regarding claims 33-44, Brewer discloses the synchronization of the video frames (column 2, line 64 to column 3, line 11) and the synchronization of the video frames to the audio frames as stated above.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
